James' family was very wealthy and the money to support his experiments financed the lab and all his expenses. He had been dreaming of building this lab for years. He wanted to create the perfect woman, but somehow and somewhere, something went terribly wrong.

He had succeeded in building the perfect woman. She was a bombshell. She was beautiful, intelligent and sexy... but she was also 100 feet tall! Where did he go wrong? James wondered as he fought for his life.

James had bought fetuses on the black market and cloned them and used their stem cells for his experiments and research. He had only used fetuses that came from the perfect DNA. He had written all his formulas down in books, which he had stacked in piles in his office lab.

He had set up a computer program to help generate the right formulas and growth hormone levels to add to the fetuses and injected them with the growth hormones to make them grow quicker and faster.
